About me

I am a PhD Student in the Social, Personality and Developmental Psychology Program at the University of Western Ontario. I have extensive hands-on experience designing online research studies, using platforms such as Qualtrics and MTurk. I have taken all graduate statistics courses available in the Department of Psychology at Western University, including Structural Equation Modeling and Latent Variable Modeling. My current dissertation projects focus on the psychometric evaluation of cognitive tests used to assess cognition after concussion. I import, clean, analyze and visualize my data using R.
